DETAILED ACTION

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 6 and 7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims 6 and 7 are unclear. It appears from the specification that the grooves and the dimples are the same element. So, it is unclear what is actually being claimed here; grooves and dimples? If so, where is that in the specification or in the figures?

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pecht '712.

Pecht discloses a sliding element 76' comprising dimples (grooves) 94 on a sliding face. As seen best in Figure 5, the element comprising a plurality of dimple sections having dimples 94 arranged in annular form. A plurality of dam sections 96 are disposed between the sections in annular form (the dam lines 96 would be somewhat jagged between the dimples, but do extend annularly). Dam section 82' is along an edge opposite the fluid side. The dimples are inclined radially and longitudinally long. The dimples have a long rectangular shape (i.e. not the direction of the diamond). As each dimple stretches along the inclination direction, a dam separates an adjacent dimple.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed 1-6-05 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The dimples/grooves of Pecht are considered to be rectangular along the inclination direction (similar to Applicants' "rectangular" grooves in Figure 5). And, as stated in the rejection above, each radially outwardly adjacent dimple is separated by the dam section. While the dam section is more 'jagged' (somewhat sinusoidal), it still forms a ring and thus is annular. Regarding JP '368, although not used in the rejection above, forming the dimples of JP '368 as rectangles is considered an obvious design choice. Gardner '424 also shows a ring with rectangular grooves 23 separated by dams 26 and 27.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3676
